TRANSFORM is a magazine for environment and sustainability professionals, published bi-monthly by IEMA in the UK.

It is the leading title for professionals working in, and committed to, environment and sustainability around the globe. The title has a solid market reputation and strong and guaranteed readership, with a constant supply of rich content topics and leads, significant commercial potential and the opportunity to create a global social media following.

It promotes innovation, collaboration and how technology/data solutions can support individual, corporate, regional, national and international goals.

It offers a comprehensive editorial strategy through print and digital platforms. Each month we publish articles, opinion and interviews across a wide range of themes. Our editorial schedule ensures we cover some of the most challenging and topical issues of the day.
